Notice Concerning the Filing of a Lawsuit

Datasection Inc. (the “Company”) hereby announces that it has filed a lawsuit against Wolfpack Research, LLC, its affiliated entities and other related parties, as set forth below.

1. Court and Date of Filing

- (1) Court: United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania
- (2) Date of filing: 31 July 2026 (US time)

2. Background to the Filing of the Lawsuit

As announced in the Company’s disclosure dated 8 October 2025 entitled “Regarding the Article Published Today by Wolfpack Research”, Wolfpack Research, a US-based entity, published an article on the same date (the “Article”) alleging that the Company had engaged in unlawful conduct, including violations of US export control regulations in connection with its procurement of GPUs for its AI infrastructure business.

However, the Company has proceeded with each of the relevant projects after consulting external experts, including legal counsel in both the United States and Japan, and has conducted its business in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. Accordingly, there is no factual basis for the allegations described above.

The Company has engaged in discussions with Wolfpack Research, LLC on several occasions in relation to the Article. However, as the Company has not received a satisfactory response from Wolfpack Research, LLC, it determined that it was necessary to file a lawsuit against Wolfpack Research, LLC, its affiliated entities and other related parties, seeking, among other relief, the withdrawal of the Article and damages arising from harm to the Company’s reputation. Accordingly, the Company proceeded to file the lawsuit.

3. Details of the Lawsuit

- (1) Relief sought: Withdrawal of the Article, damages and other relief
- (2) Amount claimed: To be determined

4. Outlook

The Company intends to disclose further developments in the lawsuit as necessary.
